

GET READY

Our internship programme affords successful applicants the ability to move from classroom to expert work delivery!

THE SHAW MUSIC STUDIOS' INTERNSHIP

Joining Shaw Music Studios as an intern brings to you a history of quality up-skilling and practical hands-on proficiency. When completing your tenure as an intern you will have gained key work experience that will gear you for a future as an audio and music industry professional. But, this is dependent on you! Being an intern, like most things in life, does not guarantee you will get a job. This is only guaranteed by the amount of work you put in. Just because you are not in the lecture theatre or classroom any more does not mean your studies end with an internship or getting steady employment. You will need an attitude of hard work and continuous learning.

AS AN INTERN AT SHAW MUSIC STUDIOS YOU WILL BE REQUIRED TO:

- Master skills to progress to higher level tasks. This means that you will need to research, practice and develop new workflows on the job. If you don't master it, you don't go further. Running to your supervisor to solve problems is a practice unheard of from professional engineers. Make it work!
- Work with sound and music. Can you read music and identify frequencies? Can you work in Pro Tools and Sibelius?
- Get to work on time. The more reliable you are the more work you get. The more work you get, the faster you progress. The faster you progress the quicker you master the skill. If you master a skill, you will get paid for the task. Yes, do it like a pro and get paid like one!
- Be able to follow instruction accurately. We tell you how to do it quick, so pay attention, write it down, do it.
- Work independently. So, you do have a supervisor demonstrating and checking your work, but they don't do it for you.

SUCCESSFUL APPLICANTS WILL:

- Have an impressive academic resume in a Sound Engineering or Music qualification.
- Require work experience as credit toward an academic qualification (not strictly, but more often than not).
- Know the business of Shaw Music Studios (study our rates list and studio setup) before an application interview.
- Send their CVs to info@ibilion.com, await notification of pre-qualification, and then call us to make an application appointment. In the appointment you will be evaluated and if successful begin work as we discuss. This usually starts with two days a week, moving to a full 5 day work week depending on your mastery of skills and current curriculum.
